Dear Bal Vihar children and parents,

Welcome, welcome to 2012-2013th year of Bal Vihar session. I hope you are looking forward to our meetings as much as we are. The Bal Vihar will continue to meet every second and fourth Sunday of a month from 9:45-1:00 PM at Cherokee High School in Marlton, NJ.

Our curriculum, festivals, calendar of activities and registration etc. is being fine tuned by our dedicated teachers and volunteers. ITA Bal Vihar is a successful program and it continues to grow mainly because of all the people who tirelessly work around the clock for so many years I appreciate their dedication, thank you!

As Americans of Indian origin, raising children as a minority in such a liberal and diverse country is a difficult task. . We, our children can't deny that our looks, names, food, music, languages, ways of worshiping God, traditions, and even the value system are different than the mainstream America. So, I applaud the parents who recognize the need to give their children the essentials of their culture and heritage which provides them with the basics to live a meaningful life in America. I look forward to meeting with you all, the new and old members of Bal Vihar families.

We will begin our session on Sunday, Sept 9th with Lord Ganesh and Goddess Saraswati Puja. Please, join us.

Hari Om, with kind regards,
Lata Pimplaskar

Senior Citizens' Program

Thursday September 13, 6:30 to 9:15 pm and Thursday September 27, 6:30 to 9:15 pm

Coronary Artery Disease in Indian Population

Coronary Artery Disease (CAD) is a narrowing of the small blood vessels (coronary arteries) supplying blood to the heart. Over time, plaques buildup in coronary arteries that block blood flow and lead to oxygen and nutrient starvation of heart muscles. CAD is more prevalent in Asian Indians. Millions are suffering from it but do not know. As the disease progresses, a 'sudden' heart attack often occurs. CAD is the most common cause of death of both men and women.

We have invited Dr. Inder Prakash Goel MD on September 13 to discuss this important topic. He will go over the signs and symptoms, causes and risk factors, tests and diagnostics, and treatment and prevention. The talk will be interactive and all are invited to attend.

Falls and Physical Therapy

A healthcare provider orders your physical therapy (PT) after a joint replacement, physical injuries, or long-term health problems, such as arthritis, spinal stenosis, COPD, tendon/ligament problems etc. One of the main causes of disability and loss of independence amongst seniors is the fall that can change one's life. In one CDC study, almost one-third of adults 65 and above who were injured in bathrooms were diagnosed with fractures. The physical therapist helps you with recovery, improving your strength, endurance, flexibility, coordination, and balance through various treatment modalities and exercises. On Sept. 27, physical therapist Mrs. Priti Patel MS PT, the daughter of our well-known members Dr. Pratima and Sri Divyakant Parikh (both past presidents of our temple) will discuss falls, their prevention, and physical therapy of resultant injuries of hip, back, and shoulder for rehabilitation. Contact Info: Suraj Bhan Singh; sbsingh1@hotmail.com (856) 582-5035.

Youth Program

Dear Youth;

I welcome you all to the youth program on September 9, 2012 at 9:45 AM at the temple. The program is called Yuva-Darshan which means 'A vision for the youth.' For this vision, we have set three goals: (1) Have fun, (2) Respect, and (3) Learn. I am sure you will see why having fun is number one. If you did not get there, the other two can not be achieved. We have rearranged the schedule and the calendar this year to promote more youth initiated activities. It is only by taking initiative that you accomplish your goals.

Being a youth is both difficult as well as enjoyable time in life. As you understand more about your own aspirations and abilities, it can also be a difficult time to cope with some of the frustrations, confusions and hard work that goes with it. Moreover, belonging to a minority faith in this majority of Christian world adds to the challenge. It has always been my focus in teaching that you, as the second or third generation Hindu in America, must feel comfortable and proud of your own faith and at the same time become a contributing American as you live in this great and free country in the world.

Online Registration currently open; so checkout our website at <http://www.indiatemple.org/>. The Youth Program 2012-2013 calendar and curriculum are also available at the youth program page. See you on the September 9th, 2012 at our temple.

ITA Seva Samiti holds Jap Yagna for our Sikh Community

August 14, 2012 was a cloudy, rainy day but the evening grew with crisp air as people slowly gathered in the Mandir hall to join in for the Prayers for Peace. The prayer meeting was to show solidarity with and to share the grief of our Sikh community.

The program began with melodious bhajans by Sandhya Motiwala. Then, after welcoming the people, Lata Pimplaskar, the director of ITA Seva Samiti welcomed the audience to "Prayers for Peace" and said, "Peace in a community or a nation arise from equality. And Sikhism was founded on the principles of equality by Guru Nanak in 1469. It was founded in retaliation to Hindu Brahmin practices of exploiting varna - commonly known as the caste system.

Later, because of the Muslim invasions, Sikhs became the protectors of Hindustan and Hindus. Now these very people, peace loving, kind people were targeted to be killed in violence. And it hurts. It hurts us all!" The hall was silent; everyone looked as if assessing their hurt. And Lata Pimplaskar continued, "Even as a young girl, I used to ponder, what situations causes the most grief, sorrow to human heart? Death, illness, poverty, lack of opportunity or injustice? I had concluded it is injustice. This act of killing at Gurudwara was unjust. This act was not senseless or mindless, it was mindful. A mind that was full of hate and rage caused by ignorance.

But even in the midst of this heinous act, the Sikh community have stood for what they believe: love and kindness. At the height of personal loss, Pradeep Kaleka, son of Satwant singh Kaleka who died in the Oak Creek, Wisconsin attack, said, "we must not fight fire with fire, or hate with hate, my father used to say that you can't fight fire with gasoline!"

Friends, we can fight with the fire of knowledge. I urge you all to take every opportunity to educate our fellow citizens regarding Sikh form and traditions. This much we can do! "

Tying Rakhi meant promise of continued relationship and protection to those we love. To signify our promise, our bond of brotherhood with our Sikh guests, Lata Pimplaskar invited Rina Patel - ITA president, Sangeeta Rashatwar - ITA Vice President, and Chetna Giyanani - Temple Manager to tie Rakhi to our guests, Harjinderji Singh, Bajinderji Singh, and Jitendra Singh.

Later, Sharad Pimplaskar led the congregation into reciting 108 times the Gayatri Mantra. The temple hall resonated with auspicious vibrations and sounds uniting people into the Om -the Lord that is Sat - existence, Chit - that is Conscious and Ananda - that is Bliss!

It's Time to fix a few important things

The following are a list of major replacements which are desperately needed here at the Indian Temple Association.

- First, as many of you know, our current prayer hall has neither handicap access nor elevators. Therefore many of our seniors are forced to stay down in the social hall and watch in-house TV coverage of many of our most important events that happen upstairs in the prayer hall. Currently, the TV's we have are old, and your board feels we need to upgrade them to flat-screen TV's.
- Second, we have a very small kitchen that is being used all the time by various groups of the Temple. The Microwave and stove in the kitchen are extremely out-of-date and the board recommends that the Temple upgrade both appliances.
- Third, as of the moment, our Temple is not equipped with security cameras. You will be pleased to know that we are in the process of installing a new security system, which will need additional funding.

In short, we have an immediate and urgent need to upgrade some of our more critical equipment and technology to meet our current needs and we are looking for sponsors for such upgrades. If you are interested in providing funds for the purchase of any of these items, please contact Rina Patel at president@indiatemple.org or Facility Committee Chair Magan Kanzaria magankanzaria@gmail.com.

Sincerely,
Rina Patel

ITA Scholarship: Third Prize Winner's Essay — Rani Shah

Do We Really Need a God?

Since the beginning of time, civilizations have believed and prayed to a greater being that maintains and restores the balance of the universe. Through time this greater being has helped transform the world from a primitive, primordial place to the innovative, progressive position it is in today. This greater being has also helped individuals find the light in the world and bring together communities to cherish each other through a common faith. There will always be an ongoing battle between good and evil, and this infinite being, also known as God, representing human compassion and goodness will always prevail. Without God many essential aspects of life would cease to exist including the presence of life on Earth, but most importantly, humanity would be morally bankrupt without faith in God.

Throughout history there has always been a clash of ideas between the worlds of science and religion, but God has singularly allowed the world to progress through simple means. There is so much in the universe that has been discovered by advancements in the field of science and cutting-edge technology, but what actually is the basis of everything in the universe? What helps the planets revolve and rotate, and allows humans to wake up in the morning? The only word that comes to mind is energy. The physicist James Joule wrote the Law of Conservation of Energy which is the First Law of Thermodynamics. It states that energy cannot be created or destroyed, but it can be transformed or transferred from one form to another. Energy is constant. God created this energy to maintain and balance the universe. Humans cannot create energy, but they can only use the energy already available to them in this world and make the best of it for a better life. Regardless of what a person's opinion on creationism is, whether they believe in the Big Bang Theory, evolution, or God's own handiwork, nothing would exist without the energy already available. Energy in any form is God's first and most essential gift to the universe.

Furthermore, a belief in a superior being or God has brought so many people to a brighter place in their lives. Knowing that there is something bigger and more extraordinary out there gives individuals the motivation to try their hardest to be the best person they can be to succeed in life. God is everywhere; he is inside each and every person. A belief in a greater being allows people to search for the morality, compassion, and God within themselves to find what makes them special and a significant part of the world. This brings forward a little more confidence, love, and light to a world filled with obstacles and difficulties. God has the power to make any person's adverse situation more tolerable. Moreover, family, friends, and communities become closer by sharing a common faith in God. Knowing another individual shares the same morals and happiness presented by faith allows a stronger bond to form between people. A common belief in God among loved ones brings an unsurpassed sense of peace and unity.

Most importantly, a faith in God keeps an individual from compromising the essential aspects of life. The average person has a conscious in his or her mind dictating what is right through a sea of random thoughts to produce suitable statements and actions. This reasonable thought process helps an individual decipher good and bad or right and wrong in any given situation. This conscious is the logical voice of God helping a person to determine the correct decision. Without God's voice of reason, the world would be a pool of chaos and turmoil because humanity would be bankrupt of its morality and sense of ethics. The God within every person with faith protects and betters that person.

Overall, God has given this world so much, and he still gives more and more every day. God makes everything in life possible and he unconditionally loves everybody that shows respect. He is the reason people can overcome their obstacles and make sensible choices in life. Without him, we would cease to exist. So, the question is do we really need a God? Simply, yes.

From the desk of ITA President

For those of you who have not visited the site lately, I am thrilled to announce to you that

- ◆ Most of the substructure has been completed
- ◆ Steel framework for the Assembly Hall has been done,
- ◆ Steel framing for the remaining areas is being erected followed by roof decking,
- ◆ And the workers are moving quickly forward toward completion.

It is so exciting for me to tell you that completion seems around the corner, and our dream of having our own community center is closer than ever. Over the past year and a half, it has been thrilling to watch the cooperation of the board and the ITA and the generosity of all our people in making the new center a reality. But, as the Center nears completion, it has yet to be fully funded and so I exhort you to --- not only continue your support – but to dig as deep as you can to fund the final stages of completion.

And now I would like to invite you all to attend Maha Gayatri Yagna, as we celebrate 27th Pran-Pratishta Anniversary of our Temple.

My experience at the Hindu Mandir Executive Conference (HMEC) – August 17- 18, 2012

(Ramesh Viswanathan)

(First and foremost, I want to thank the ITA board for sponsoring me and Dahyabhai Patel to attend this conference. ITA has been sending Mandir representatives every year since the inception of HMEC and it is a very laudable initiative on their part. Not only does this generate an awareness of the functioning of the Hindu Mandirs across the different states of USA, (such as the activities they promote, the issues they face, the tools they employ to resolve these and so on) but also it creates a network of like-minded volunteers whom we can fall back on for guidance, support, and publicity. Going forward, I hope every trustee gets this opportunity to attend such conferences).

Veni, Vidi, Vici – The Sants, Swamis, Swaminis, the Hindu scholars, Priests, the Youth speakers – Western, and Indian origin, the list goes on.

As with many of us, I follow a particular school of thought with respect to Hinduism, and I tend to view others with a healthy dose of skepticism. That one could dedicate him(her)self in (apparently) completely diverse activities from others, yet arrive at the singular goal of blissful peace was brought forth loud and clear to me in the two days of the HMEC meet held at San Jose, CA (August 17th and 18th). Let me elaborate.

I have read quite a few books on the various saints of Bharat and have always marveled at the trigger points within their system that caused them to search for the truth, unhindered by the human bonds. Here, in this conference, I was a witness to not one, but quite a few such souls. There was this Swamini (Sadhvi Bhagwati), a young Jewish woman from an upper middle class family from California, who graduated from Stanford and was pursuing her PhD in the same school; she took a vacation to travel to India and there was no turning back when she had a chance encounter with Pujya Swami Chidanand Saraswati. To recount her words, “waves and waves of bliss, joy, and serenity permeated every cell of my being” and I wanted this feeling to last forever. She found her calling in his Ashram at Rishikesh and has immersed herself in serving the community at large. Dr. Animesh Sinha, a young physician from US, who spends nine months in a year at Braj in Uttar Pradesh trying to save the ecology surrounding the river Yamuna. Swami Mukundananda, another young person, an IIT Kanpur and IIM graduate who has set up his own Yogic system in India devoted to the best practices of amalgamation of the Hatha Yog, and Bhakti Yog.

It was humbling to hear the Youth speakers of Indian origin such as Mihir Meghani, Aditi Banerjee, and a few others lecturing us and suggesting ways and means to engage the Hindu community in USA and using Mandirs as an instrument of peace and harmony. The youth had an intense and an invigorating session on “Igniting the flame within: Redefining the Hindu-American Youth Identity” moderated by Sadhvi Bhagawati Saraswati, not very old herself!

On the lighter side, we had a session by a priest Murali Bhattar from Minnesota who talked about technology at work in Mandirs. He demonstrated how an iPad can carry all the Slokas and the ritualistic procedures in different languages catering to the various communities of Indians in the US accompanied by the music relevant to those. As an example, he chanted one of the auspicious ceremony mantras applicable to South Indians while playing the Nadaswaram in his iPad! This is something all the priests in USA should quickly get on board with if they want to cater to different Indian segments that follow their own unique customs and practices. Another point he emphasized was that priests should explain every ritual and pooja step by step – in English so that our youth do not lose interest and understand the importance of these ceremonies. Yet another topic that resonated with me was the one on “Veda – The Inner-net Browser” by Sekhar Boddupalli, where he dwelled on the spiritual vibrations that emanate from the proper rendering of the Vedas.

There has been a drive to help terminally ill Hindu patients by enabling the priests to go to the hospitals or homes and chanting the relevant mantras and slokas to bring peace to the tortured souls. A book “Hindu Prayer Book” was distributed for this purpose that serves as a useful aid.

The United States Declaration of Independence proclaims the inalienable right to “Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness”. After attending this conference, I am convinced that the enlightened Hindu souls have attempted to steer the populace at large to take this phrase to the next and the final logical step: “Samsara, Moksha, and Ananda”.

As I write this, a Sanskrit verse comes to mind.

“Akashat patitam toyam, Yatha gachati sagaram, Sarva deva namaskaram, Keshavam pratigachati”

“Rain water falls on various parts of the earth, but, of its own accord, in its own way, it always makes its way to the ocean. Similarly, worship offered to any divine being will eventually end up at the feet of Shri Krishna.”

The devotion, the dedication, the sincerity, and the singular pursuit of these evolved souls to bring about the peace and harmony to every being in this world amply exemplifies and is a living testament to the above sloka.

May their tribe increase!
